WHAT YOU'LL NEED:

- Scriber or awl
- Blunt chisel

1. Score the Line

Score a 1–2 mm deep line with a scriber or similar tool.

2. Mark the Back

Mark the back of the brick where the score line is placed, and make a marking.

3. Elevate One End

Place something under the short end of the brick to create tension, ensuring it's steady.

This creates tension in the brick, making it easier to split along the score line.

4. Chisel Along the Mark

Strike with a blunt chisel along the mark on the back until the brick splits.
